No. 288.—The following resolution of the Government of India is republished:—

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE.

TARIFFS.

Simla, the 25th July 1929.

No. 301 T. (1).—The Taxation Enquiry Committee reported in 1926 that it was desirable to make India self-supporting in the matter of salt supply, if this end could be secured by the granting of a purely temporary advantage to the local manufacturer, whether by way of a rebate of duty or of a differential duty on import or both, and recommended that an enquiry should be made into this matter by the Tariff Board. This recommendation was, along with other recommendations of the Committee relating to salt, examined by the Central Board of Revenue with the assistance of Mr. D. N. Strathie, I.C.S., an officer who had had considerable experience of salt administration in Madras. The main conclusions of the Board were briefly as below:—

(a) The problem of making the mainland of India (as distinguished from Burma) self-supporting in the matter of salt supply resolves itself into that of capturing for Indian salt the market for fine white crushed salt in Bengal, since no attempt could reasonably be made to compel the consumer in Bengal to take the ordinary Madras or Bombay salt,

(3) The cost of transporting salt to Bengal from these places in India at which salt suitable for that market could be produced, and the extent to which such transport could be made available, were factors of the greatest importance.

(4) The probable limitations upon the output of sources in India which could produce the required quality of salt were such that, on the evidence available, a reasonable probability that India could be made self-supporting in this respect could not be regarded as established.

2. The Central Board of Revenue, therefore, reported that there was no prima facie case for reference to the Tariff Board. As regards Burma, however, Mr. Strathie recommended that, in view of the special conditions there, there was a prima facie case for reference to the Tariff Board. The Central Board of Revenue recognized that, if that province had stood by itself, the course suggested by Mr. Strathie could have been adopted, but felt that the adoption of different rates of customs duty for goods imported into different parts of India would be a violation of important principles governing tariff policy.

3. The Government of India accepted the conclusion of the Central Board of Revenue that there was no prima facie case for reference to the Tariff Board so far as the salt industry in India (excluding Burma) was concerned. The decision of the Government of India was published in Finance Department (Central Revenues) Resolution No. 20, dated the 13th May 1928. As regards Burma, they considered that means should be explored other than the grant of a differential duty in order to secure protection for the local industry. This subject is under active discussion at present with the Government of Burma.

4. During the last session of the Legislative Assembly the question of making a reference to the Tariff Board regarding the salt industry came under discussion in the Assembly in the course of a motion made by Mr. N. C. Kelkar to reduce the grant under the head "Salt" by Rs. 100. The discussion showed that there was a strong feeling in the Assembly that the question should be referred to the Tariff Board. In the course of the debate, the Hon'ble Sir George Rainy and the Hon'ble Sir George Schuster explained that the decision taken by Government not to refer the case to the Tariff Board was not final and had reference only to the circumstances at the time, and promised that the matter would be re-examined in the light of the events that had happened since the previous decision was taken.

5. Subsequent to the above debate, the Hon'ble Finance Member and the Members of the Central Board of Revenue visited Karachi in order to inspect the progress that has been made with the manufacture of salt since Mr. Strathie reported and to assess the possibilities of increased production there and elsewhere. As a sequel to these visits, the Government of India have reconsidered the position. They are still satisfied as to the essential correctness of the first two of the three conclusions cited in the opening paragraph of this Resolution; but as regards the third of these conclusions, they consider, in the light of recent experience in the production of fine white salt at Karachi and of the emergence of certain other possibilities, that it is necessary to re-examine the situation. They have now decided therefore that a reference to the Tariff Board need no longer be regarded as premature, and that, in view of the public interest which has been displayed in this matter, the Board shall be directed to set up an enquiry forthwith.

6. The Tariff Board will accordingly be asked to report whether, having regard to all relevant considerations, it is desirable in the national interest that steps should be taken to encourage the production of salt in India suitable for consumption in those markets which are at present largely supplied from abroad, and if so, what measures they recommended. The Board should take into account the relations between the Government of India and Aden and the conditions of the existing salt industry in the latter place and should make such special recommendations, if any, affecting the treatment of salt produced there as may seem to them to be appropriate. They should also note that it is already the settled policy of the Government of India to allow salt produced in the Indian States and transported to Bengal or Burma by sea admission to the markets in those areas, subject to reasonable safeguards to secure that the revenue accrues to the Government of India and that there is no illicit removal en route.

7. All persons interested in the enquiry should communicate with the Secretary to the Tariff Board, who will announce in due course the dates on which and the places at which the enquiry will be held.

S. V. RAMAMURTI,
Secretary to Government.
